COVID-19 Business Operations Update REVISED
Continuation of Business
June 9, 2020

Esteemed Partners and Valued Customers,

Effective Wednesday, June 10, 2020, the Department will resume walk-in customer services, Monday thru Friday, 8A – 5P, excluding State holidays.

This update will have no change on other service options as shown in the table below.

Customers are still encouraged to use the Department's e-license tool for as many licensing processes as possible. The tool provides for a majority of licensing services online and accepts credit card and electronic check. Customers interested in reviewing a list of online services using the e-license tool can find them on the Department's website, or direct at <https://azliquor.gov/ELicensing/ELLFAQ.cfm>. The e-license tool itself is on the website, or direct at <https://dllc.azliquor.gov/azdlprod/pub/Login.aspx>.

For licensing services not available in the e-license tool, the Department built a special ad hoc online tool for use during interrupted service delivery associated with COVID-19. That tool remains available and is located on the Department's website under the "DLLC COVID-19 Info" section, or direct at COVID-19 Ad Hoc Online Licensing Tool.

Services offered in the ad hoc tool include:

- License renewals with an expiration date between March 1, 2020 through September 1, 2020, wherein the licensee intends to timely renew a license and defer renewal payment for 90-days
- *Special event permits
- *Fair festival permits
- *Temporary extension of premise permits

Individuals requiring special accommodations please call (602)542-9027

- *Permanent extension of premise permits
 - Activating an Inactive license
 - Adding, or removing managers
 - Adding, or removing officers
 - Non-judicial foreclosures
 - Withdraw of an application (where application was initially done outside the e-license tool)
- * Licensing actions with an asterisk require local governing body approval before submission.

Licensees wanting to timely renew a license and defer renewal payment for 90-days are able to use the ad hoc tool for this purpose. Special conditions apply so please take care to read the guidelines before proceeding.

Licensees and applicants using the ad hoc tool to apply for a special event permit or fair festival permit are encouraged to remit payment by mail or courier over visiting the Department. Include in the subject line of the check, the event date and event name to match what is on the application in order to ensure staff's ability to match check to the application. Checks that do not clearly tie to an application will be returned and will delay processing.

All other fees tied to business submitted through the ad hoc tool will be available to pay at a later date through the Department's e-license tool.

Fingerprinting service remains unavailable and is to be obtained through another source. Numbers of local reputable companies can be found on the internet or otherwise.

All remaining Department functions are available through direct employee contact, use of Department web-based resource tools, or by following directions as contained in any direct correspondence received by Department officials.

Customers and clients seeking assistance and resources around COVID-19 as well as general business matters are requested to review the Department's website at <https://azliquor.gov/index.cfm> ahead of calling or writing, as many answers and tools are available there.

A directory of Department phone numbers are available at <https://azliquor.gov/directory.cfm>. The Department's general customer support line during regular business hours is (602) 542-5141.

Thank you for understanding, partnership, and continued support during these extraordinary times.

Sincerely,

John Cocca
Director
